Written report to NFOG – Obstetric Medicine Course 2024

I attended the Obstetric Medicine Course in London from 28 February to 1 March 2024. The course introduced and updated my knowledge of a large spectrum of medical complications in pregnancies. Furthermore, we were advised about recent management protocols for different disorders. The speakers are all leading clinicians and researchers in different aspects of Obstetric Medicine and were all very inspiring. Leaving London and the course, I am inspired and informed about medical complications in pregnancies and where to search for more knowledge. An excellent course – I will highly recommend this to other colleagues.
